Paul and Jennie Mogel, Doylestown, Are Named Defendants

SUE FOR SUM OF $350

Two Divorce Suits Are Started in The Bucks County Courts

DOYLESTOWN, June 24—One of two actions in an assumpit entered here involves a county seat couple who are being sued for $350 in connection with a broker's commission. Two libels in divorce have also been entered.

Paul S. Mogel and Jennie Mogel, West Court street, have been named as defendants in an action in trespass by Max A. Schwartz, Philadelphia, who is suing for the sum of $350 with interest since January 21.

The plaintiff, in a statement of claim filed in the Prothonotary's office, avers that the defendants owned real estate at 521 West Gray street, Philadelphia, which was sold for $6500 on January 21 to Harold and Edna Daniels. The suit grows out of a dispute involving the payment of a broker's commission. A Sellersville merchant, Ralph Leckler, has been named the defendant in an action in an assumpit by E. J. McAfee and Company, Philadelphia, claiming the amount of $245.88, with interest from May 16. The suit involves a dispute over some merchandise.

Mrs. Evelyn H. Pearsall, of Revere, has named her husband, John Gardner Pearsall, the respondent in a libel in divorce. They were married October 4, 1932, in Ferndale. The present address of the respondent is also Revere. They separated April 15, 1944.

Mrs. Alice G. Carter, Fallsington, has named her husband, George H. Carter, Fallsington, the respondent in a divorce action. They were married July 29, 1928, in Newtown. No date of separation was given.

Highways in Bucks Co. Are to be Widened

A portion of Route 202, which connects Doylestown with Norristown, county seats of Bucks and Montgomery counties, respectively, and a portion of Route 309, the Philadelphia pike, are to be widened by the State Highway Department.

Route 202 is to be widened from Sumneytown pike, Gwynedd, to the Montgomery-Bucks county line, a section of dangerously narrow highway where numerous accidents have happened. The work on Route 309 will extend from the junction of Route 463 to a point about 400 feet north of Mongomeryville.

Altogether, four and one-half miles of highway will be improved at a cost of $240,598. According to the State Highway Department, "work will be begun as soon as possible." The contract has been awarded to the Kingston Contracting Co. of Shenandoah.

Warrington Parent-Teacher Association has adopted a plan for the proposed grading of the three schools in the district next term.

Following a rather lengthy discussion in which many of the 50 members attending the meeting took part, the association adopted a resolution which embodies the recommendations for the grading of the schools.

Harry Evangelides, the president, designated four of the members to present the resolution to the school board for its consideration. The members asked to take the resolution before the board are Mrs. Carroll B. Keck, Clayton Sacks, Walter S. Hayes and Alvah Clarence. The association also will ask the school board to hold a special meeting for the purpose of giving the recommendations made at the meeting last evening consideration.

WIRE SHORTAGE FACES FARMERS OF SECTION

Adds to Troubles in View The Shortage in The Labor Ranks

WEATHER HINDRANCE

In addition to the critical labor shortage which is facing Bucks county farmers this summer, there is also the serious problem of the bale wire shortage.

Another difficulty, which always confronts the farmer, is the undesirable weather. The heavy rains have prevented the farmers from planting corn, and according to County Agent William F. Greenwalt, it is too late to plant corn in order for it to mature before winter. It is also too late to plant soy beans to be used for grain; however, the corn and soy beans would make excellent fodder and straw if planted now.

The wet weather has made the grass grow to a good height, but it has also prevented the gathering of the hay. The rain has caused the hay to become lodged, and it is hard to mow when it is in such a condition.

The problem of gathering hay is not only affected by the weather, but it is believed that the recent steel strikes are responsible for the shortage of baling wire. It is probable that some farmers have India has protested to the United Nations, in the first appeal ever taken to the General Assembly, against the treatment of Indians by the Union of South Africa, and because the situation is "likely to impair friendly relations" between the two countries has asked that the matter be placed on the Assembly agenda for September. This afternoon the Security Council will take up the Spanish issue again.

The United States feels that prevention rather than punishment underlies effective control over the development of atomic energy and will insist upon effective international inspection machinery, it was reported. A dummy bomb fell into the target area at Bikini in a dress rehearsal for the atomic bomb test next week.

General Eisenhower made public last night his 90,000-word report to the Combined Chiefs of Staff on July 13, 1945, on the march from the Channel to Berlin. The Germans' initial mistake was to expect the landing in the Pas-de-Calais area, he said, and to be confident of being able to throw back any invasion. They received every opportunity to guess wrong on Allied plans.

RHINE

JUNE 24—The enemy made serious mistakes. General Eisenhower admitted that he had incorrectly guessed Field Marshal von Rundstedt's intentions in the Ardennes, and divulged his reasons for not naming Field Marshal Montgomery chief of ground forces. It was President Roosevelt who induced Marshal Stalin to permit a liaison enabling co-ordination of eastern and western drives against Germany.

Any plans the Germans had to put up a fanatical resistance in the Bavarian "redoubt" were nullified by the junction of American and Russian forces on the Elbe and the Third and Seventh Armies' swift conquest of Bavaria. All through the spring of 1945 the Germans sought vainly to split the Allies and escape unconditional surrender by a separate truce. General Eisenhower gave high praise to Allied naval and engineering personnel.

Services will be held tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock at the Ruehl Funeral Home, 314 Cedar St. The Rev. Edward G. Yeomans will officiate and burial will be made in the Bristol Cemetery.

Customer-Reaction to Closing Hours Watched

PERKASIE, June 24—Reports submitted at the monthly meeting of Perkasie Chamber of Commerce indicate that North Penn Merchants have not fully agreed on the proposal to close all retail stores at six o'clock on Saturday nights.

The report was submitted by Walter Herstine, chairman of the retailers committee of the Chamber. He told members that he, with his committee, had attended three meetings of North Penn Merchants at Souderton and that a majority of the merchants are in favor of the proposal.

In towns from Telford to Lansdale and many smaller communities off the Reading railway lines, most merchants have decided to try out the proposal during June and July and meet again on August 12 to report on customer-reaction and plan a permanent program.

Perkasie merchants will not go along with the two month trial period pending a meeting with Quakertown merchants. If the latter merchants refuse to close at six p. m. Saturdays, many Perkasie merchants will remain open Saturday evenings as usual.

Merrill McIntyre, appointed several months ago to submit plans for a more elaborate system of decorations for the Christmas holidays, made a report on Monday evening.

One hundred and eighty-two members have paid their dues for the current year.

ATOMS FOR PEACE

The Army has disclosed what it is doing to develop the peaceful uses of atomic energy. The furnaces at Oak Ridge, Tenn., which produce the explosive substance in the bomb are also turning out approximately 100 different by-product radioactive substances. These substances are now to be released to hospitals and universities for research in physics, chemistry, metallurgy and the medical sciences.

It is heartening to know that the barriers to the constructive, peacetime use of this epoch-making discovery are beginning to break down, even in this small way. Atomic energy, like nearly all the forces harnessed or unleashed by man's ingenuity, has a dual nature. Its awesome wartime potentialities already have been revealed. Scientists everywhere are now eager to have an opportunity to develop its application to medicine, industry and other peacetime fields.

There is no question in anyone's mind that the results will be as tremendous, in their own way, as the effects of the first bomb dropped on Hiroshima. The new radio-active substances alone promise tremendous advances in scientific processes and in the treatment of disease, and they are only the first, chance by-products of the bomb project. Later, when the full energies of the research laboratories are turned loose on the subject, truly revolutionary developments for the benefit of mankind may be expected.

ACS AND ANTHALIAN

From researchers in the field of medicine come more good tidings. One newspaper account, dated Kiev of all places, promises longer lives for many human beings. The other from New York City, holds out the hope of a happier existence to a majority of hay fever victims.

Of the two, the dispatch from Kiev occupies the greater space even though there was advance notice of ACS (anti-reticular cytotoxic serum), which is alleged to lengthen life. And it deserves it, because it contains the first interview ever granted foreign newspapermen by Prof. Alexander Alexandrovitch Bogomolets, who discovered the serum, and because Prof. Bogomolets makes the flat statement that it will increase the life span for normal individuals to 150 years.

He does not say that his discovery means that everyone can live a century and a half. His serum, he is careful to point out, is not "an elixir of long life but something that fights the enemies of normal life." It is not a cure for cancer, for example, and people must not be allowed to feel that they can fail to take care of themselves and rely entirely on ACS. But, he says, it is "a pretty good invention, all the same."

If it is, the critics will eventually be convinced. Laymen can only wait in hope. But in the case of anthalians, the new drug to fight hay fever discovered by Dr. W. S. Loewe, a German-born pharmacologist, now an American citizen, there are clinical results in evidence of its value.

There was a horse thief in town yesterday. After he found out that lawyer William S. Wright was out of town, he manifested a great anxiety to see that gentleman. At last he said he had information that he was in the neighborhood of Torredale and wanted to know where he could get a team to go for him. He was directed to go to Comfort's livery stable. He engaged the team and it was brought down in front of Mr. Wright's office. He jumped in and away he drove. But he didn't go to Torredale, and he didn't return last night. Mr. Comfort became suspicious and the telephone and telegraph were brought into play. About nine o'clock this morning word was received that the man was in custody and the team recovered at Trenton, N. J. . . .

VOLTZ-TEXACO IX WINS TWICE HERE AGAINST TRENTON

Keegan and Dick Hurl Bristol Team to A Couple of Victories

KEEGAN BLANKS EIGHT

Dick Held the New Jersey Players to Four Hits in Second Tilt

"Danny" Keegan and "Johnny" Dick hurled the Voltz-Texaco team to a twin victory over the State Highway team yesterday afternoon in a double-header of the Trenton Industrial League on Leedon's field. It was the 10th and 11th defeat in a row for the State Highway boys. Scores were 6-1 and 4-0.

Keegan pitched the first frames and limited the Trenton team to five hits. He struck out eight batters and had wonderful control, issuing one pass. He was aided by errorless support and every line fielding chances by "Herb" Yates and "Pat" Patino.

Voltz had eight hits in the opener with Risoldi and "Barney" Ludwig getting two each. Ludwig drove in a pair of runs and scored another. The gasmen got to Dick Holden early in the tilt and scored all their runs in the first three frames. Holden held Voltz to but one hit the last three innings.

BRISTOL LEGION LOSES TO DOYLESTOWN

Holden lost its second game of the Bucks County Legion Junior League, Saturday afternoon, on Leedon's field when it dropped a 3-1 decision to Doylestown.

"Lefty" Kruger pitched the country-sealers to the triumph and his only nemesis was "Eddie" Capriotti who had two hits and scored the only run on a clean steal of the plate in the second inning. The other Bristol hit was made by Sackville.

Bristol's best opportunity was in the fifth when it loaded the bags on a walk and two errors. But McInerney struck out and W. Hibbs forced Murphy at the plate and to end the frame, Sackville got caught off guard.
